San Jose, CA, February 28th, 2011 – PropertyMinder, Inc. has entered into a real estate training partnership with a DRE® certified California-based Continuing Education (C.E.) school. This means that any PropertyMinder website client doing business in California will get their C.E. courses paid by the company.

“Expanding partnerships with other ancillary real estate businesses is high on our list of goals for 2011. By giving back to our clients, we will have happier agents who are well informed, educated, and ready to succeed with their real estate businesses,” said Boris Gruzman, PropertyMinder CEO.

To receive the C.E. courses for free, the CA Realtor® must be a PropertyMinder website client. Upon agreeing to the terms, PropertyMinder will purchase the C.E. courses and its partner school will release the course material. The C.E. courses will be entirely web-based so that the agent can participate at any time of the day. California Realtors® must partake in 45 hours of course work and pass the necessary exams & quizzes to renew their license.
